Moderately slow

When the sky in the East flames crimson and gold
In the light of the morn-ing sun,
When in clear lit-ting voice
sweet song-birds re-joice, Bid-ding wel-come to day just be-gun;
Then I pass on my way to the la-bor of day,
And your smile as we part thrills me through,
For it shortens the day till the light fades away,
And evening brings rest and you.

When the shadows have lightened and vanished at last
In the glow of the slow dying day,
When the birds in their nest have all gone to rest,
Little children been called from their play;
When the cares of the day
have been all brushed away, Ah, 'tis then that I love to renew All the sweetness and truth of the love of our youth,
For evening brings rest and you.
